

MEET: CHRISTINE ROBINSON

Talent Executive, Innovation Catalyst, Strategic Facilitator

Christine is passionate about creating emotionally intelligent, inclusion-conscious and innovative organizational cultures that leverage the best in everyone. She believes that humanity in workplace design is our most important pursuit.

Expert Trainer and Facilitator

For over a decade, Christine has led teams committed to transforming and humanizing work. She helps leaders identify what matters most - using practical decision-making tools to help them access insight and to take committed action.

As a speaker and facilitator, Christine designs sessions that have impact. Whether in a virtual discussion or at a conference with hundreds of attendees, she brings sessions alive by sharing relevant concepts that demonstrate how innovation can be accomplished by anyone when supported with the right structure and tools. She believes seeing things in fresh new ways can support employees in navigating challenges today, and the changes we need to make to prepare for the future.

Christine is a true partner who values co-creative working relationships with her clients. Merging her experience as an executive, an organizational development consultant, leadership coach and innovation catalyst, she is firmly focused on excellence for her clients—from non-profits to Fortune 500 companies.
