

THE POWER OF CONVERSATION TRAINING

Expand your influence. Unlock your people's potential. Get results.

“We’ve taken our people through all sorts of conversation training,” leaders tell us, “but they’re still not having the conversations.” Sound familiar?

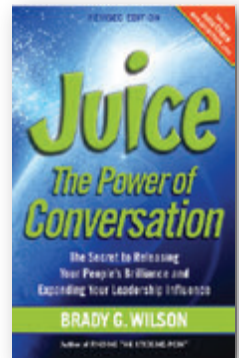

It’s not surprising when stepping into tough conversations means reinventing yourself to be courageous or radical. What if the price of admission is not being courageous, but simply human? What if it wasn’t only the tough conversations that mattered, but every conversation?

If you’re a leader in your organization, people do not leave your presence neutral. They’ll either leave more energized or more depleted. That’s why expanding your influence and unlocking people’s potential relies on simple yet powerful conversations. And, with technology continuing to subordinate conversations, it’s critical that you make the most of every one.

At the heart of every conversation is a successful operating system; one that powers the value-creating applications critical to unlocking your people’s potential - like coaching, feedback, problem-solving, innovation, customer service and sales (to name a few). The Power of Conversation equips leaders with a simple operating system they can use for all the conversations that matter in their day – and yes, the difficult ones too.
